Winter Static Overnight Job – Personnel Checklist

Were-Shift Preparation:

- □ Confirm site briefing details (site map, hazards, emergency contacts)
- □ Check weather forecast and adjust clothing accordingly
- Charge mobile phone, radio, torch, and any other required devices
- □ Pack nutrition: water, thermos with hot drink, energy snacks
- □ Confirm transport plan (vehicle check if driving)

A Clothing and Equipment:

- □ Thermal base layers (top and bottom)
- □ Insulated fleece or wool mid-layer
- □ Waterproof/windproof outer jacket (security-branded if possible)
- Warm gloves and beanie
- $\hfill\square$ Waterproof, insulated boots with non-slip soles
- □ Reflective vest (if required)
- □ Flashlight or headlamp with spare batteries

Train Hard. Stand Ready.

- □ Fully stocked personal first aid kit
- □ Notebook and pens for incident reporting

On-Site Duties:

- Conduct full site patrol at shift start and note any immediate risks
- □ Check all entry points, alarm panels, perimeter fencing
- □ Maintain regular patrol schedule
- □ Log all incidents, patrols, and suspicious activity accurately
- □ Report hazards or maintenance concerns immediately
- □ Maintain regular communications if required

Personal Wellbeing:

- □ Stay active by doing slow patrols to maintain circulation
- □ Regularly hydrate and have warm drinks and snacks
- $\hfill\square$ Shelter from extreme weather only if safe and approved
- □ Maintain a professional appearance at all times
- □ Always prioritize personal safety first

Train Hard. Stand Ready.

W.I.N.T.E.R. Static Guard Ready Acronym

W – Weather Check (Always check forecast and prepare clothing and gear)

I – Inspect Site (Full patrol and hazard check at start of shift)

N – Nourish and Hydrate

(Bring water, thermos, and energy food)

T – Thermal Layers On

(Wear proper thermal, waterproof, and reflective gear)

E – Equipment Charged

(Mobile, radio, torch fully charged before arrival)

R – Report and Record

(Report hazards, record patrols and incidents properly)

Train Hard. Stand Ready.